DISPUTE:

This is how the defendant disagrees with your claim(s). The Court will set a date for a settlement conference or in some cases a trial and notify you.

a I disagree with this claim. I did call his company to move us from Nelson to Summerland. I told him I had a 3 bedroom townhouse. I told him we had 3 beds, 2 couches, love seat, end tables coffee tables, a couple dresses, 3 tv's and stands plus alot of boxes and clothing. We agreed on $1500.00 to move my place. I also told him there were no appliances. He showed up at our home and moved our stuff. I wasn't there just my wife. I wasn't at the house in Summerland when he unloaded the truck. when I got home I noticed he moved less then 1/3 of my stuff. If he could take everything he should have said something. Not move part of my place and want the full amount. It has costed us 7 trips to Nelson to move the rest of our stuff.

AGREEMENT WITH THE CLAIM: (NAME)

If this is filled in, the defendant has agreed to pay this amount and is proposing this payment schedule.

I could make the following payments:
 agree to pay $

COUNTERCLAIM

WHAT HAPPENED?

If this part is filled in, the defendant has made a claim against you. This is what the defendant says led to the claim against you. If you dispute the counterclaim you must file a separate Reply.

I say he should owe myself $800.00 for my costs and headache to move the remainder of my stuff. I had to make 7 trips to get everything.

HOW MUCH?

This is what the defendant is claiming.

This counterclaim will be heard at the same time as your claim.
